

Norfolk Gardens Trust Journal Spring 2002

Contents Editor's Comment

Hortus Episcopi

Graham Innes traces the development of the Bishop's Palace Garden in Norwich

Ancient Arbor

Gerry Barnes finds that Norfolk has an impressive stock of venerable trees

Templewood

A Petit Trianon hidden in the Norfolk countryside. Roger Last looks at the creation of a house and its landscape

Norman Designed Landscapes in Norfolk

Castle's, cathedrals and strong central authority, but who thought the Normans championed landscaping? Robert Liddiard examines the evidence

Water Works

A remarkable series of hydraulic installations give the garden at Letheringsett Hall a unique character. David Mayes explains

Botanic Connoisseur

Maurice Mason assembled the greatest collection ever to be seen in Norfolk. Brian Ellis traces its past and present

Public Paradeisos

George Ishmael reveals the many small public gardens and open spaces in Norwich

NGT Events for 2002

The Trust's Committee