

Norfolk Gardens Trust Journal Spring 2003

Contents Editor's Comment

Contributors

Botanic Treasury

Norwich possesses some rare botanical treasures. Elizabeth Stratton examines what is to be found in the John Innes Foundation Rare Books Collection

Venetian Transports

There is no need to travel to the south to indulge in Venetian Canals. Anthea Taigel finds an alternative La Serenissima in Great Yarmouth

Of the Upchers, Repton and Wilson

Behind most famed landscapes and gardens there are usually enlightened patrons. John Simmons looks at the Upchers of Sheringham Park, Repton's work there and at some of the outstanding planting

Towering Follies

Roger Last goes in search of two unusual Norfolk garden embellishments

Copyhold Trees - a Norfolk Case History

Not fully reformed until the late 19th century, the law surrounding Copyhold in relation to trees saw friction rising in the manors of Heydon and Salle. Ron Fiske elucidates

Ford Place

This Thetford garden has escaped from the blight of urban development. Judith Ions looks at its history and development

NGT Events for 2003

The Trust's Committee